Fire Insurance Maps.

Emporium is being mapped out for the benefit of Fire Insurance Companies, who pay liberally for the service. The town has advanced in improvements so rapidly during the past six years that it is necessary to make a new insurance map of the Borough and Mr. E. G. Chambers, of New York City, has been located here for the past two weeks engaged in the work. The last map of Emporium was made in 1903. As an illustration, the map now being made of Emporium will, at the outset, be a drawing to scale on a large sheet of paper, lined in small squares. The topography of the different town divisions is first drawn and the ground floor of each house or building is penciled in its appropriate place with marks which act to the initiated, as guides to the general character of each structure, the material entering into the construction of each building and other pointers for the benefit of those who fix the rates for the insurance companies. These drawings are made to scale, generally fifty feet to the inch. When completed, they are sent to the home office and litographed, being then bound in book form and sold to the fire insurance companies. The first map of this kind ever made dates back to 1871, when it was prepared in Boston by Mr. Sanborn, the founder of the company bearing his name. The company is heavily capitalized, and employs about 200 fieldman and a large office force and has prepared maps of about 6000 town and cities, over almost the entire area of the United States.

House Parties.

The homes of W. G. Bair and wife and P. H. Burke and wife were the scenes of much merry making the first of the week. They entertained a party of friends from Olean and to say that they had a good time would be putting it mildly. The party arrived from Olean on the evening train on Monday and from that time until their departure on the noon train Wednesday, there was one continual round of pleasure. Tuesday was spent at Keystone Park and was a day that will be long remembered as a day of feasting and pleasure. The party was composed of the following: Mrs. Rose Lupold, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dodson and son, Mrs. Claud Mayer and son, Mrs. Wm. Hannifan, Mrs. Langford Rodgers, Mrs. Josephine Dunlavey and Miss Mayme Fitzpatrick.

Cedar Shingles $4.50 per thousand at C. B. Howard & Co's.

Opening of Schools.

The schools will open on Monday, Sept. 6th. The Principal will be in his office on Friday where he may be consulted in reference to school affairs. Pupils who have attended school at other places and desire to attend school here must see the Principal in order to be classified.

Every pupil entering the Emporium schools for the first time must present a certificate of vaccination.

The period of compulsory attendance is from the age of eight to that of sixteen except for those over fourteen who have an employment certificate and are regularly employed. The schools are open to all between the ages of six and twenty-one. Children who will be six years of age before January first will be admitted during the first week. Those who reach the age of six later in the ter will be admitted if the parents so desire during the first school week in January. Only these two periods will be allowed for the admission of beginners.

Books loaned by pupils from the Principal should be returned to the office on Friday forenoon.

A meeting of all the teachers will be held in the High School on Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Parents are urged to keep in touch with the school work by visiting the schools.

C. E. PLASTERER, Principal.

Olean Fair and Races.

The Big Fair at Olean will start one week from Monday. At present the Association has in view a gigantic Automobile parade for the morning of Labor Day. In the afternoon the many atheletic events scheduled will take place. This includes the much advertised seven mile marathon, which will be a popular feature of the day.

The inquires in the live stock department have been so numerous that the association has finally decided to keep the books open until Sept. 4, or when the capacity is reached. We trust that those who have not their entries already in will attend to them at once, as space is going rapidly. In the Horse Department, the Association has decided to add a class for Standard Bred. This will be known as Sect. 6 and will have the same class divisions as Sect. 2, This will allow many horsemen to compete who have not cared to enter their horses in the other classes. The Domestic Departmet entries are coming nicely and all women desiring to enter should do so at an early date. This will facilitate matters both for themselves and the office force. Between the heats of the races each day the Special Attractions will be given in front of the Grand Stand. A large platform has been erected for this purpose. Among the Attractions will be found The Great Huntley, the marvelous high wire artist whose tricks of two years ago are still remembered, Mile. Emerie & Co., will present famous aerlel trapeze acts. This troupe comes directly from Europe, and this will be their first appearance this season in this country. Miss Tina Broakwick with her father will perform many difficult aeriel feats. As Miss Tina is only 14 years old, no one should miss the chance to see this child wonder. As previously announced Chamberlain's Baby Show will take place Tuesday morning of the Fair. The entries have been so numerous that it will necessitate using the Grand Stand for this exhibition. Miss Hazel Lewis of this city will have general supervision of the department, and will see that the babies are tagged, and in their respective classes.

The concessions are coming in, and Olean's Big Fair will have a midway that will surpass any heretofore attempted in this vicinity. Come and meet your friends. The general ad mission is placed at 25 cents. As the majority of Fair charge from 35 to 50 cents, this should prove a great drawing card. Come.

Six O'clock Dinner.

Six o'clock dinners seem to be the one form of entertainment in vogue at Emporium, at the present time. Miss Carolyn Cox entertained eight young ladies at her home on Chestnut street, last Thurday evening, in this popular way. The repast was sumptuous and was heartily enjoyed by all present.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

HENNINGER.

The sad messenger of death has again visited our town and called to the great beyond, the spi... Mrs. Maude Haviland-Henninger, ... of Mr. Samuel Henninger and her infant child. The baby was born on Wednesday and the little spark of life flickered out at birth, while the mother followed on Friday morning, August 27th, at eight o'clock. She suffered untold agonies and in spite of all the medical attentions of Drs. Bush and Falk and the administrations of the devoted family, death claimed its own and relieved the great sufferer. Mr. and Mrs. Henninger were married August 22, 1908 and only had one short year together, but it was a year of continued happiness. She was a dutiful daughter and faithfully took care of her aged mother, with whom she always made her home, and the shock of her death is a severe blow to her. Deceased was 38 years of age, having been born April 21, 1871. She is survived by her husband, mother, four sisters and five brothers. The funeral services took place on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. from Emmanuel Episcopal Church, the Rev. J. M. Robertson, rector of the church, officiating. The infant, for whom she gave her life, reposed in the arms of its mother. Interment was made in the Wiley Cemetery. Mr. B. Egan was funeral director. The bereaved family have the sincere sympathy of the PRESS and a large circle of friends.

LEWIS

Anson W. Lewis, a respected citizen, died at his home in Rich Valley last Saturday, August 28th in his 67th year. Death was caused by embolism of the brain. Mr. Lewis was born in McKean county, Jan. 25, 1843 and in his manhood responded to his country's call and enlisted in the service of the Civil War. He is survived by a wife and three grown children. The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon and interment made in the Rich Valley cemetery. C. W. Rishell had charge of the funeral.

KOKOT.

Mrs. Harriet Kokot, wife of Nickolis Kokot, died on Tuesday at the family home in Shippen township. Deceased was 28 years of age and is sursurvived by her husband.

Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon and interment will be made in the Wiley cemetery. C. W. Rishell has charge of the funeral.

Cameron County Sunday School Notes.

The eighth annual convention of the Cameron County Sabbath School Association will be held Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 13-14 in Emmanel Parish House. Addresses will be delivered by state workers. Mr. Herman Eldridge and Mrs. Maud Junkin Baldwin also will be present at all sessions and good music has also been provided.

A large attendance is desired at these meetings and it is requested that all interested in the work will keep these dates open. Also remember the Union Service to be held Sunday evening, Sept. 12th in the Methodist church. Complete program will appear in our next week's issue.

ARTHUR V. ORTON,
County Organizer.

Public School Sermon.
First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Next Sunday is announced as Rally Day in all the services. As it will be the first Sunday in September an increased attendance will be expected in all the services. Preaching both morning and evening by Rev. J. F. Anderson, minister. The sermon at 7:30 p. m., will be appropriate to the opening of the public schools, to which the public school student-body is cordially invited, along with other students who shall soon return to institutions of learning elsewhere.

"King of Tramps."

In presenting to the public this season Fuller and Cole's "King of Tramps" at the Emporium Opera House, at Sept. 9th, we wish to thank our friends and patrons for the generous support they have accorded us in the past seasons in our effort to present and provide them with up-to-date drama.

Day—Roper.

A very pretty home wedding was solemized, Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Day on Woodland avenue when their daughter, Miss Ethel Blanche was united in marriage to Mr. Cecil Tyson Roper, of New Smyrna, Florida, by the Rev. Paul J. Lux, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The bride was attired in white batiste and carried a bouquet of white roses, her only attendant being her sister, Miss Rachel Day, who was also gowned in white and carried sweet peas. The best man was Mr. Wilber Roper of Augusta, Ga., brother of the groom. The parlor was beautifully decorated in white and green and the bridal party entered the room to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Miss Myrtle Olmsted, and took their places under a bower of fern and flowers, where the ceremony was performed. After receiving the congratulations of their relatives and friends an elaborate wedding breakfast was served, covers being laid for over fifty guests who were waited upon by members of "The Ramblers" in a most delightful manner. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Ethel is the third member of the "Ramblers" to be married this year. She has always been very popular with all who knew her and Mr. Roper is to be congratulated in securing Miss Ethel as his bride. The groom is an exemplary young man and holds a lucrative position with the government at Panama. The happy couple departed on the noon flyer, amid a shower of old shoes, rice and confetti, for New York city, where they will spend several days before sailing for Empire, C. Z., Panama, where they will make their future home. The PRESS joins with their many friends in wishing them a "bon voyage" to their home as well as all through life.

Among the guests were Rev. Paul J. Lux, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Day, Mr. and Mrs. John Day, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day, Mrs. Helen Day Metzger, Mrs. Wm. Smith of Friendship, N. Y., Mr. & Pitt Felt of Emporia, Fla.; Mr. Wilber Roper of Augusta, Ga., Mrs. Carl Felt and son of Philadelphia; Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Felt, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Felt and son Lee; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Felt, Mr. Herbert Olmsted, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hackenberg, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Goodnough. Mrs. Easterbrooks, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Eick, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Smith, Mr. Thos. Norris, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Hinkle, Mr. Arthur V. Orton and the Misses Myrtle and Vera Olmsted, Abbey, Grace and Marguerite Metzger, Bessie and Mildred McQuay, Emma Ellis, Edith Heilman, Anna Welsh, Myrtle and Ethel Lloyd, Ida Baker and Mrs. Iva McDougal Caton.

At Emporium Opera House.

The "King of Tramps" will appear at the Opera House, next Thursday evening, Sept. 9th, and will present one of the most novel and pleasing entertainments ever offered the amuse ment loving public. The program is overflowing with the rapid-fire fun and genuine surprises; pretty music and dazzling scenic effects form an important part of the entertainment. The "King of Tramps" is everywhere presented in absolute perfection, never curtailed in any detail, a fact that makes this organization still more successful each successive season. The management's motto has been, "Perfection Makes Perpetual Popularity."

If Signs Are True.

If signs and old sayings do not fail there will be another wedding among the Ramblers before long. One of the prominent young ladies who attended the Day-Roper wedding last Tuesday caught the bride's bouquet and was also hit with an old shoe. Will the sign come true.

NOW FOR BUSINESS.

NO INJUSTICE HERE

WEST FAIRLY REPRESENTED ON COMMITTEES.

Claim That Important Chairmanships Have Been Divided up Among Eastern Men Is Absurd When Figures Are Considered.

One of the latest bugaboos invented by the enemies of the Taft administration and the Republican party is sectional injustice in congress, with the newer west posed as the victim. It is pointed out that only 13 chairmanships of standing committees in the house of representatives out of 62 have been given to the states west of the Mississippi, in the list of committee appointments announced by Speaker Cannon just before the end of the special session of congress. It is also discovered that New England gets 12 chairmanships, while the Pacific coast has none.

The inference drawn from these facts is that the persons and influence most powerful in congress are trying to punish the west for its spirit of independence and reward the east for standing by the speaker and the forces which find him most satisfactory.

As a matter of fact there is little in this latest effort to show political injustice and sectional unfairness. The seeming inequality is mainly a sort of optical delusion—an effect of the big spaces on the maps. There the regions between the Mississippi and the Pacific ocean looks immense, and New England seems insignificant by contrast with the Pacific slope alone. The census, however, is the basis for representation in congress, and the count of heads tells a different story.

The great section of the country which lies west of the Mississippi has only about 25 per cent. of the population and Texas and Arkansas, like the part of Louisiana beyond the river, have solid Democratic delegations in the house, and hence can expect no chairmanships of committees. Colorado is represented by three Democrats and no Republicans, in the present house, and Missouri is heavily Democratic by the same test. About 26 per cent. of the Republicans in the house come from districts west of the Mississippi and they have 21 per cent. of the committee chairmanships. No great injustice crops out there, nor in a comparison with the 25 or 26 per cent. of the population living in the states west of the same river. As for the Pacific slope, the small—in area—state of Massachusetts contained a larger population, in 1900, than California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Idaho, all taken together.

It will be found, on looking up the records, that states west of the Mississippi which have been in the habit of keeping Republican delegations in congress, have fared extremely well in committee honors, in the present house, as well as in the past. The effort to stir up a new sectionalism does not look promising. It lacks the vital element of truth.—Cleveland Leader.

President's Prestige Increased.

One thing which the ending of the long tariff struggle has done is to increase greatly the prestige of the president. The Taft administration stands better with the country than ever before, because it is recognized on all sides that the president was the deciding factor in the bitter contest between those who sought to keep the pledges of the Republican party and those who desired to mock the expectations of the people. The final victory, by a narrow margin, for the cause of downward revision, which means the square deal and good faith, is a Taft triumph, and the country will trust and "tie to" the president accordingly. That is one result of the prolonged task of tariff-building which will have far-reaching consequences for good.

We note that Mr. Bryan says he is going to remain a "fixture in Nebraska." That does not prevent him, however, from running again for the presidency.

TARIFF WAR NOT PROBABLE

Maximum-Minimum Feature of Tariff Act Sure to Be Rationally Interpreted.

The new tariff act, with its maximum-minimum feature, entails the abrogation of existing trade agreements with foreign countries, Cuba excepted. Due notice is to be given, in accordance with existing stiptlations, and this notice is to be followed by an investigation of the various foreign tariffs by experts to be appointed by the president.

There is, however, no danger of tariff wars in the near future as a result of the termination of agreements now in force. The maximum tariff will not be imposed on any country that does not "unduly" discriminate against American goods. Of course, if a rabid standpatter were in charge of the negotiations, "undue" discrimination could be found in the slightest differences, and a serious problem might be presented in such a thing as Canadian preference for British goods. But with President Taft in the White House and Mr. MacVeagh at the head of the treasury there will be, we may be sure, no disposition to look for trouble or to make mountains out of molehills. "Undue discrimination" will be interpreted rationally and sanely, in a way to help our commerce instead of hampering or injuring it.

Germany, the Berlin dispatches state, does not like our new tariff but is prepared to make the best of the situation. No talk of "retaliation" is heard, and no trouble is anticipated. In France the high-protection elements have been demanding upward revision in order to "arm" the government for negotiations with the United States, but the late ministry refused to lend any countenance to such proposals, and the new cabinet, which is as liberal and enlightened as its predecessor, will doubtless maintain the same attitude of opposition to French tariff bourbonism and avoidance of frictian and commercial warfare.

It was explained in the senate during the tariff debate that the maximum tariff would practically leave matters in statu quo except as to one or two countries, which countries, it was expected, would promptly remove certain discriminations complained of and secure the benefits of our minimum tariff. European reports indicate that the views expressed in the senate were not too optimisitic in this respect.

The President's Trip.

President Taft will be obliged to compress in the period between now and September 15, about six weeks, his entire summer vacation. He then begins a 13,000 mile trip through the country, which doubtless will be as enjoyable to him as it will be to the cities which he visits, but which cannot be regarded as anything but work.

For two months the president will lead the nomadic life of a traveling theatrical company on the one night stand circuit, and will not have as much freedom of movement. Mr. Taft was the great traveler of the Roosevelt administration. Evidently he intends to be the great traveler of his own so far as it be possible for him to maintain his record within the confines of this country. For a man accustomed to swing around the world, a schedule laid out entirely within the boundaries even of a nation generous in its geographical lines will not be a hardship, although it will be work.

The people will be glad to see the president. He goes to the north, the west, and the south. He will reach the Pacific coast and the gulf of Mexico. He will see the development of the coast states illustrated in the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. He will hear of the hopes of the Mississippi valley at the waterways convention.

It will not be a vacation, but it will be none the less pleasant for that.

To attack a tariff law the enactment of which is followed by good times is about as effective, politically, as it is to tell a farmer that the season has been bad when his crops are big.

MILLIONS HANDED TO THE MILITIAMEN

MONEY APPROPRIATED BY CONGRESS ALLOTTED BY COL. E. M. WEAVER.

STRENGTH OF THE MILITIA

The Money Is to be Used to Purchase Arms, Equipment and Ammunition and for Rifle Practice and Camping.

Washington, D. C.—Four million dollars, appropriated by congress for the militia, have been allotted among the several states and territories by Lieut. Col. E. M. Weaver, of the general staff corps of the army, who is chief of the division of militia. The enlisted strength of the militia as shown by tables prepared by Col. Weaver is 109,761 and the allottments under various heads include $1,472,250 for arms, equipment and camp purposes; $490,750 for promotion of rifle practice; $628,561 for ammunition, and $970,656 for supplies.

The allotments for the states and territories in round numbers include the following: Alabama, $88,000; Arkansas, $54,000; California, $73,000; Colorado, $30,000; Connecticut, $66,000; Delaware, $16,000; Florida, $37,000; District of Columbia, $56,000; Georgia, $90,000; Idaho, $19,000; Illinois, $194,000; Indiana, $91,000; Iowa, $86,000; Kansas, $59,000; Kentucky, $78,000; Louisiana, $53,000; Maine, $40,000; Maryland, $58,000; Massachusetts, $142,000; Michigan, $91,000; Minnesota, $83,000; Mississippi, $58,000; Missouri, $116,000; Montana, $17,000; Nebraska, $65,000; Nevada, $11,000; New Hampshire, $37,000; New Jersey, $105,000; New York, $360,000; North Carolina, $73,000; North Dakota, $24,000; Ohio, $170,000; Oklahoma, $40,000; Oregon, $36,000; Pennsylvania, $275,000; Rhode Island, $30,000; South Carolina, $60,000; South Dakota, $25,000; Tennessee, $66,000; Texas, $104,000; Utah, $16,000; Vermont, $26,000; Virginia, $78,000; Washington, $33,000; West Virginia, $44,000; Wisconsin, $92,000; Wyoming, $16,000; Arizona, $19,000; Hawaaii, $14,000, and New Mexico, $10,000.

LAND SUITS KNOCKED OUT

Demurrers in Eastern Oklahoma Title Cases Started by United States Are Sustained.

Muskogee, Okla. — Judge Ralph Campbell has sustained the demurrers in the suits brought by the United States to set aside various deeds and leases made by citizens allottees in the five civilized tribes in eastern Oklahoma, and thus settled a legal controversy that had been the cause of considerable concern in that part of the state.

The court reviewed the relation of the United States to the five tribes since they became a nation, and found that no vestige of title to the lands allotted them now remains in the United States. The demurrers involved the question of the citizenship of these Indians and the court declared them to be citizens of the United States with all the rights, privileges and immunities of citizenship. It is held that the United States cannot maintain these suits on the principle that it sustains to the individual Indian a trust relation, such guardianship being incompatable with citizenship, national and state.

Finally the bills were held bad because numerous defendants are joined in each bill who were connected with many distinct transactions regarding as many distinct tracts of land.

PANIC IN BURNING BUILDING

One Man Was Killed, Three Persons Probably Fatally Injured and a Score of Others Hurt.

Waverly, Ia.—In a panic of 300 employes of the Kelley canning factory to escape from the second floor of the canning department, where a gasoline tank had exploded and thrown fire over the room, George McRoberts was killed, three persons were probably fatally injured and a score of others were severely hurt. The building was destroyed by the fire that followed the explosion, causing $100,000 damage.

While the canners were busily engaged in preserving sweet corn in second floor of the factory, a gasoline tank used for the soldering of cans, burst with a frightful detonation, hurling clots of flaming fluid over the large room.

French Soldiers Killed.

Paris, France.—Advices received here from the French Congo say troubles between the natives and the French military authorities have not been quelled. Several French officers are reported to have been wounded and a number of men killed.

Building Up Fallen Fortune.

New York City.—That Charles W. Morse, the financier who recently was released from the Tombs prison under $125,000 bail, has begun his efforts to rehabilitate his fallen fortunes was indicated by the announcement that he has purchased a majority of the claims outstanding against the Metropolitan Steamship Co. and will attend a sale of the property of that company which takes place in about a month. The claims against the company, which is now in hands of receivers, amount to $1,157,012.

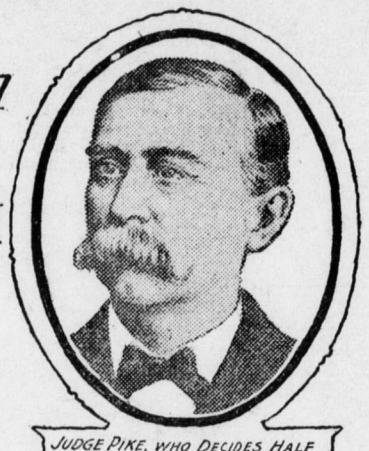
The New Divorce Centre

Reno, Nevada, Inherits the Sioux Falls Industry

A Million a Year Estimated Revenue

By Herbert F. Jackson

JUDGE ORR, WHO DECIDES HALF OF THE DIVORCE SUITS



JUDGE PIKE, WHO DECIDES HALF OF THE DIVORCE SUITS

RENO, Nev.—The population and social life of Reno, Nev., are undergoing a great change. Where a year or so ago the optimistic mining promoter, in his corduroy or khaki and his high russet shoes, was wont to disport himself, to-day may be seen men of the east flashing by in high-powered automobiles. Where Washoe squaws would a year ago sit and play cards at the corners of the public squares may be seen to-day handsome women in Paris gowns sauntering in the afternoon sun. On the veranda of the leading hotel where a year ago were the silence and desolation that the panic of 1907 produced, idly sit and fight with ennui groups of men and women, who look forward, in mental vision, to the time when they will be able to forsake this frontier post of civilization and whirl an eager flight back to their homes in the east.

But they are looking for divorces at present, and so they must stay here for at least six months from date of arrival to satisfy the requirements of the Nevada divorce laws with regard to residence. For Reno has succeeded to the eminence formerly occupied by Sioux Falls as the divorce center of America. Some farsighted lawyer got into the Nevada legislature several years ago, and when he got out again there was a divorce law among the statutes of Nevada that for length, breadth, height, elasticity, and all other qualities that commend themselves to the seeker after easy matrimonial freedom, could not be surpassed anywhere in the union. It was equaled by the South Dakota law, though, and so Nevada and the Nevada lawyer secured no results from it for the time being.

But everything comes to him that waits, and when the people of South Dakota arose in their wrath last November and, by a referendum vote, declared that any one who desired to get a divorce in South Dakota would have to live there a year instead of six months, as had been the requirement previously, the seeker of relief from present matrimonial ties began to take the long journey westward to Nevada, where it takes but a six months' residence to be in a position to go before the courts of the state as plaintiff in a divorce suit.

W. H. Schnitzer, a Reno divorce specialist, has written a treatise on divorce practice and procedure, in which he throws an illuminating ray on the wherefore of the popularity of Reno as a divorce center. He says:

"While the laws of the eastern and middle western states generally contain some provision for the dissolution of the marriage tie, it is obvious to the reader that in cases where extreme cruelty, desertion, and failure to provide form the basis of the grievance, the law in such states offers no substantial relief to the aggrieved party, because the requirements of proof, duration of offense, corroboration of plaintiff and procedure under court rules are so exacting and irksome that the desired relief sought by the applicant is rendered impossible of attainment. Summing up the situation as it exists in the eastern states respecting the domestic relation law, the client when consulting local counsel is almost invariably advised that upon the facts submitted he or she is without remedy. Here in Nevada the applicant, without deception or fraud, upon almost any charge from which lack of harmonious relations may be reasonably inferred, may apply to our courts and secure prompt results by decree of absolute divorce, valid and binding in law."

While there are about 54 cases now on the docket of the district court, there are in Reno to-day over 350 individuals establishing a residence for divorce purposes, a majority of whom are women.

The charms of Nevada as a divorce center have only just begun to percolate into the consciousness of the outside world.

Reno has no objection to the present status of affairs. It is estimated that the revenue of the town from the divorce colony at present is close to $1,000,000 a year, and that it will rapidly increase from this on. To a community of but 18,000 population this is no small consideration.

Why Reno is preferred to any other community in the state as a place of residence by those seeking divorces is because of the manifold advantages of the town over any other in the state. Nevada is primarily a mining state, and nature usually hides her precious metals in difficult places. Reno is not a mining camp, and is not only centrally situated from a railroad point of view, but has scenic attractions rarely to be found in any American community.

It is located in the heart of a rich agricultural region, and through the center of the town runs a beautiful mountain stream, the Truckee river. Surrounding the town, at a brief distance, are snow-capped mountains, and the winds coming from over their summits keep the air cool on summer nights. It is never very warm in Reno. On the other hand, the winters are comparatively mild.

An altitude of 4,500 feet makes the atmosphere somewhat trying on nerves that are not robust to begin with, but nervous affections are the only complaints to which the climate is unfavorable.

For the cure of other ailments hot mineral water springs abound in the vicinity of Reno. Twelve miles away are the famous Steamboat Springs which Comstock millionaires were wont to patronize 40 years ago. Three miles from Reno is Moana Springs. Five miles from Reno, to the west, is another famous medicinal resort, Laughton's Springs, the road to which runs along the Truckee river, making a beautiful driving boulevard. Half way to Laughton's on this road is a magnificent edifice known as "Rick's," which is the local "Monte Carlo." Rick's has all the conveniences for those who desire to make a stay, and frequently parties who go there to spend a few hours forget to come back for several days. It might be mentioned in this connection that the divorce colony has brought to Reno over 100 motor cars.

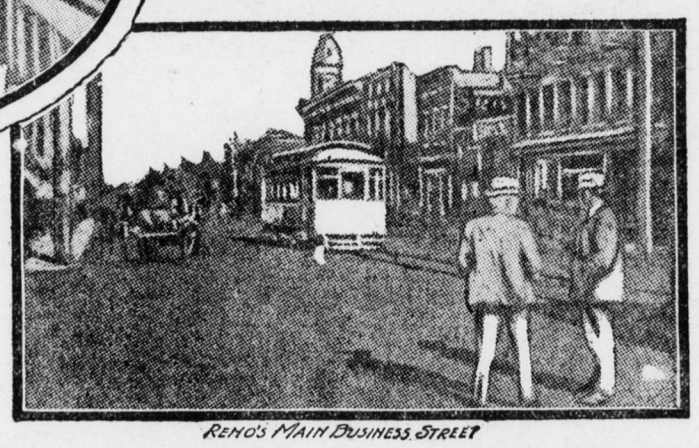
RENO'S LEADING RESTAURANT—A RENDEZVOUS FOR DIVORCE SEEKERS



RENO'S MAIN BUSINESS STREET

The leading hotels are always crowded, and the rents for cottages have appreciated, on the average, to the extent of 50 per cent. in the last six months. In some instances the increase has been much greater. One cottage that rented for $60 a month in January last, now returns its owner a rental of $100 a month.

Perhaps the one thing that endears Reno to the visiting divorcee more than anything else is its proximity to San Francisco. One may board a train in Reno and be in the Pacific coast metropolis in ten hours. Despite its manifold attractions, life in Reno is likely to wear irksome upon those who have been used to existence in larger centers, and the visitors, to a great extent, sooner or later during their stay, take a trip or half a dozen trips, over the Sierras to the city by the Golden Gate.

Such visits, while affording relief from the monotony of life in Reno, do not impair the residence qualifications necessary to the obtaining of a divorce. To again quote the Nevada divorce authority already mentioned:

"Under the provisions of Section 22 of the Marriage and Divorce act, the plaintiff must reside in the state for a period of at least six months. This is not construed to mean that in order to fully comply with the statute the party must remain here continuously for said period. So, if a party comes to Nevada, and, in good faith, takes up a residence, the party may leave the state at any time after establishing residence, may go and travel when and wherever the party chooses, and may return to the state whenever inclination prompts, and yet such temporary absence would not in any wise affect the legality of the residence established, but the party would be entitled under the law to bring suit any time after the lapse of six months from the date residence was originally established, notwithstanding the party's absence from the state during said period."

Biased somewhat by the financial seductions of the situation, and yet to learn the lesson that such a state of affairs can only result in the moral degradation of the youth of the community—a lesson which caused South Dakota to reform her divorce laws—Reno appears to be perfectly contented with things as they are.

But Reno is busily engaged in cleaning house, and it is felt by the most reflective observers that the divorce laws of Nevada as now written will be a thing of the past in the near future. Not in the very near future—for the next legislature does not meet until January of 1911. There are others who point to the experience of South Dakota, which for 20 years fought the evils of lax divorce laws before a repeal was secured, and say that the moralists of Nevada have an equally stubborn task before them. But Nevada is cleaning house. In the last session of the legislature, after gaming being permitted for 40 years with connivance of law, a bill abolishing gambling was passed—the act to take effect in November of 1910—and it is believed that if that could be done, the slack divorce laws can be more easily repealed.

In the meantime the hotel men and cottage renters of Reno and the divorce lawyers will continue to flourish. Parisian toilettes and 60 horse power automobiles will flash and dart through the quiet thoroughfares at all sorts of hours. Men and women will continue to become "citizens" of Nevada on a six-months' residence—and leave the state forever the day after securing their divorce decrees.

Frolics of a Real Queen

That queens are very human beings after all is evidenced by their delight in the outdoor pleasures which even their humblest subjects may enjoy. The royal lady of a European court no longer sits in regal splendor in her palace, surrounded by ladies in waiting ready to minister to her most languid wish, but you may meet her motoring in the country or riding horseback in the park. It is an excellent example they are setting for their countrywomen in this respect.

Queen Alexandra is a devotee of outdoor life. Indeed, she attributes keeping young and enjoying good health to this fact. When a young girl she was fond of swimming, rowing and driving, and even now she never permits a day to go by without taking some exercise. If the weather is too bad for walking she passes several hours at billiards. She is wonderfully skilled with the cue and is proud of her game. But in nice weather her favorite exercise is walking. At Sandringham she visits all parts of her farm at least once a day. This is more of a pleasure than a task, because she usually amuses herself on the way by taking snapshots with her camera or playing with one or more dogs. Fond though the queen is of outdoor life, she avoids hard exercise. Yachting and driving she enjoys, but she never has played golf or put a ball over a tennis net.

Persistent automobiling, she believes, offers the quickest means known for getting rid of a nice complexion and gaining 10,000 wrinkles.

Queen Alexandra believes so much in fresh air and exercise out of doors that she has sometimes slept in a tent she had put up for her at Sandringham. Once, asked how she managed to keep young, she said: "Fresh air and exercise are the best elixirs of youth."

Queen Alexandra's particular hobby is photography and that takes her out of doors a great deal. She is said now to possess albums containing over 10,000 photographs, all taken by her own hands, representing royal and important personages, places and festivals in all parts of Europe. For a period of 16 years now the queen has been a devotee of the camera. She possesses five cameras.

Wherever the queen goes—be it a cruise in the royal yacht, to her home in Denmark, or a ride across country in the Highlands—she is never without her camera. That she uses it well is evident when it is stated that during one of her Mediterranean cruises she secured 1,400 photographs in six weeks. Then it is very seldom, too, that the queen throws out a picture or destroys a negative because the subject is not up to the mark.

In her way of going to work she is most methodical. Her photographs fill many albums and under each photograph her majesty has written a description of the picture and the date when taken. They include a great variety of subjects, from the king's stud horses taken in the old days at the annual sale at Wolferton to portraits of her grandchildren on the lawn at Sandringham and the ruins of the Parthenon. The photographs of her grandchildren fill three albums alone and now amount to several thousand. They depict them at their games, romping with each other, and one, that made the king roar with laughter when he saw it, has caught two of the younger sons of the Princess of Wales, each endeavoring to exert his right to a certain toy by the free use of his fists.

What she regards as one of her best photographs of the king is that which depicts him talking to Lord Suffield in the grounds of Marlborough house.

SIX PEOPLE DROWNED

STEAMER OHIO SINKS OFF STEEP POINT, ALASKA.

All the Passengers but One on Board the Boat Were Saved, the Victims Being Employes.

Seattle, Wash.—Six lives were lost in the sinking of the Alaska Steamship Co. steamer Ohio off Steep Point, Alaska. There were 128 passengers on board, but all these but one escaped, the victims being employes. The loss of the steamer and the cargo is total. The drowned are Purser F. J. Stephen of Seattle, Wirless Operator George E. Eccles of Winnipeg, two seamen and the quartermaster, names not given, and one passenger.

A wireless dispatch says the Ohio sank in three minutes. This probably means that she was on the reef a considerable time and that the passengers were all off before the ship slid into deep water which she did so speedily as to carry down five of the crew.

It is 320 miles from Seattle to Steep Point. The rocks where the Ohio sank shelve off rapidly into unusually deep water. The Ohio was insured for $220,000. Capt. John Johnson, her navigator, was regarded as one of the most skilful on the Pacific coast.

BULLETS FLEW AT SOPER, GA.

One Negro Shot and Burned, Another Lynched and a Prominent White Planter Killed.

Soper, Ga.—Following the shooting and burning of Ben Clark, an escaped negro convict, by a posse, the killing of James Durden, a prominent planter who was a member of the posse in the fight with Clark, John Sweeney, another negro who had harbored Clark, was taken from a passenger train near Tarrytown and lynched by the posse.

Four others of the posse were injured in the battle with Clark and Sheriff James Lester of Montgomery county, probably will die. The posse found Clark, an escaped convict from the Bibb county chain gang, in Sweeney's house. Sweeney's wife was at home, but Sweeney was absent. The sheriff called on Clark to surrender. For answer he received a 44 calibre bullet fired from a rapid fire gun. Durden was shot and other members of the posse fell before the torrent of lead dealt out by the negro. He continued to fire until his ammunition was exhausted. He was then overpowered and his body riddled with bullets.

THE WEEKLY PULSE OF TRADE

Industrial Tendencies Are Still in the Direction of Improvement, Says Bradstreets.

New York City.—Bradsteets says: Trade and industrial tendencies are still in the direction of improvement. Impetus is given these movements by the beginning of the cotton harvest at the south, by the completion of the spring wheat harvest in the northwest and on the Pacific coast and by the gathering of other products of agricultural interests in various sections of the country. In commercial lines jobbing trade still has the center of the stage, and reports are practically unanimous that buyers' excursions are stimulating fall demand as the close of the vacation period approaches. Retail trade still largely deals with the disposal of summer goods, mainly at concessions.

Industry is becoming increasingly active, iron and steel leading despite some further price advances and mills are reported behind on deliveries. Demand for coal is expanding east and west. The building trades are quite active.

BREAKS THE WORLD'S RECORD

English Aviator Travels 111.78 Miles in the Air in Three Hours, Four Minutes, 56 2-5 Seconds.

Rheims, France.—Henry Farman, the English aviator, a hitherto unknown quantity in the aviation contests, in a biplane of his own design, broke the world's record for duration of flight and distance in a heavier-than-the-air machine and won the grand prix de la champaigne—the endurance test—by a remarkable flight officially recorded as 180 kilometres (111.78 miles) in three hours, four minutes, 56 2-5 seconds. He actually covered an extra ten kilometres and remained in the air ten minutes after 7:30 o'clock, the hour that the time keepers, under the rules, ceased to keep a record of the flight.

Although Farman's brilliant record as an aeroplanist should have warned the sharps that he was a dangerous competitor, his victory was a complete surprise. He had been preparing his machine secretly and had not appeared upon the field before except for a few practice flights and had been almost forgotten.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing amendments to sections eight and twenty-one of article four, sections eleven and twelve of article five, sections two, three, and fourteen of article eight, section one of article twelve, and sections two and seven of article fourteen, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and providing a schedule for carrying the amendments into effect.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following are proposed as amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment One—To Article Four, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight of article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office at the next general election, unless the vacancy shall happen within three calendar months immediately preceding such election, in which case the election for said office shall be held at the second succeeding general election. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal," so as to read as follows:—

He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office, according to the provisions of this Constitution, unless the vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day, in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal.

Amendment Two—To Article Four, Section Twenty-one.

Section 3. Amend section twenty-one of article four, which reads as follows:—

"The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be four years; of the Auditor General three years; and of the State Treasurer two years. These officers shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms," so as to read:—

The terms of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer shall each be four years; and they shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections; but a State Treasurer, elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine, shall serve for three years, and his successors shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and in every fourth year thereafter. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms.

Amendment Three—To Article Five, Section Eleven.

Section 4. Amend section eleven of article five, which reads as follows:—

"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs and townships at the time of the election of constables, by the qualified electors thereof, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of five years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district," so as to read:—

Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs or townships, by the qualified electors thereof, at the municipal election, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of six years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district.

Amendment Four—To Article Five, Section Twelve.

Section 5. Amend section twelve of article five of the Constitution, which reads as follows:—

"In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be five years and they shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished," so as to read as follows:—

In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be six years, and they shall be elected on general ticket at the municipal election, by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished.

Amendment Five—To Article Eight, Section Two.

Section 6. Amend section two of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"The general election shall be held annually on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto," so as to read:—

The general election shall be held biennially on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each even-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an even-numbered year.

Amendment Six—To Article Eight, Section Three.

Section 7. Amend section three of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"All elections for city, ward, borough and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the third Tuesday of February," so as to read:—

All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough, and township officers for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd-numbered year.

Amendment Seven—To Article Eight, Section Fourteen.

Section 8. Amend section fourteen of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service," so as to read:—

District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially, by the citizens at the municipal election; but the General Assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only: Provided, That such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record, or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

Amendment Eight—To Article Twelve, Section One.

Section 9. Amend section one, article twelve, which reads as follows:—

"All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law," so as to read:—

All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law: Provided, That elections of State officers shall be held on a general election day, and elections of local officers shall be held on a municipal election day, except when, in either case, special elections may be required to fill unexpired terms.

Amendment Nine—To Article Fourteen, Section Two.

Section 10. Amend section two of article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"County officers shall be elected at the general elections and shall hold their offices for the term of three years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law," so as to read:—

County officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law.

Amendment Ten—To Article Fourteen, Section Seven.

Section 11. Amend section seven, article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five and every third year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled."

Schedule for the Amendments.

Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that—

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years.

The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February, as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says:—"I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

The Wilderness.

This theater of bloody conflicts is a vast sea, so to speak, of a dense forest—a second growth more than a century old. It is made up chiefly of scrubby, low limbed, stubborn oaks and disordered, haggard pines, for the soil is cold and thin, with here and there scattering clumps of alien cedars. Some of the oaks are large enough to cut two railroad ties, and every once and awhile you come across an acre or two of pines ten to twelve inches in diameter, tall and tapering, true to the soaring propensities of their kind. But generally, and above all where the battle was fought, the trees are noticeably stunted and so close together and thick lower limbs so intermingled with a thick underbrush that it is very difficult indeed to make one's way through them.—Atlantic Monthly.

Meredith's Advice to Stead.

W. T. Stead tells a characteristic story of George Meredith, which is all the more appreciable as it is told against himself.

"He was a true friend," says Mr. Stead, "not less faithful in criticism than he was cordial in his appreciation. Of the former I remember well the neat way in which he put me out of conceit with my first attempt to write a story. I sent him my little effort with fear and trembling. My trepidation was not without warrant. 'I have read "From the Old World to the New,"' he wrote. 'Some of the characters are interesting and well drawn. One of them especially reminds me of Cecil Rhodes. But if any one of your friends tells you that he likes the story as a story don't believe him.'"

Swiss Flags.

The Swiss flag is red, and it bears a Greek cross in its center. The Switzers declared their independence in 1307, and at the battle of Morgarten, 1315, where the Austrians were defeated, they carried a plain red flag without any device. During the seventeenth century a white cross was added, though it is said that the cross appeared on some Swiss flags as early as 1339. The different cantons of Switzerland have different coats of arms and different flags.

Verdi's Secrecy.

Verdi observed great secrecy concerning his operas, even to his business associates, and it is said that the first intimation his business managers, the Ricordis, received of the composition of "Falstaff" was a toast offered by Boito, who at supper one night, when the publisher and his wife were present, slyly glanced at Verdi and proposed a health to the "fat knight," at which it seemed Verdi and Boito had been working for months.

An Aspersion Suspected.

"That is quite a remarkable Rembrandt," said the connoisseur.

"Sir!" rejoined Mrs. Cumrox.

"Yes, Rembrandt, you know, the great painter."

"Oh! I thought you said 'remnant.'"—Washington Star.

The Fraction.

"Humble as I am," said a loud voiced orator at a meeting, "I still remember that I am a fraction of this magnificent empire."

"You are, indeed," said a bystander, "and a vulgar one at that."—London Express.

Be Not Too Ready with Excuses.

That man who always is searching for excuses for his short-comings is a bugbear in business life. To find an excuse almost always involves some one or more of his fellows. To have his excuses accepted tends to place his fellows more or less under censure, and whether the censure be just or unjust, friction results inevitably.

THE LOVES of the LADY ARABELLA

By MOLLY ELLIOT SEAWELL

(Copyright, 1906, Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

SYNOPSIS.

At 14 years of age Admiral Sir Peter Hawkshaw's nephew, Richard Glyn, fell deeply in love at first sight with Lady Arabella Stormont, who spurned his attentions. The lad, an orphan, was given a berth as midshipman on the Ajax by his uncle. Giles Vernon, nephew of Sir Thomas Vernon, became the boy's pal. They attended a theater where Hawkshaw's nephew saw Lady Arabella. Vernon met Philip Overton, next in line for Sir Thomas Vernon's estate. They started a duel which was interrupted, Vernon Overton and Hawkshaw's nephew found themselves attracted by pretty Lady Arabella. The Ajax in battle defeated French warships in the Mediterranean. Richard Glyn got £2,000 prize money. He was called home by Lady Hawkshaw as he was about to "blow in" his earnings with Vernon. At a Hawkshaw party Glyn discovered that Lady Arabella was a poor but persistent gambler. He talked much with her cousin Daphne. Lady Arabella again showed love for gaming. Later she held Glyn and Overton prisoners, thus delaying the duel. In the Overton-Vernon duel, neither was hurt. Lady Arabella humiliated Richard by her pranks. Richard and Giles shipped on a frigate. Giles was captured by the French. Sir Peter arranged for his exchange. Daphne showed a liking for Glyn, who was then 21 years of age. Giles was released. Giles and Richard planned elopements. Sir Peter objected to the plan to wed Daphne. By clever ruses Giles and Richard eloped with Lady Arabella and Daphne, respectively. The latter pair were married. Daphne was pleased; Arabella raved in anger. When the party returned, Arabella asked Sir Peter to aid in prosecuting Giles in court on the charge of committing a capital crime. All attended the trial. Upon Arabella's testimony Giles was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Sir Peter visited the prince of Wales in effort to secure a pardon for Giles. Arabella threw herself at the feet of Overton, whom she had loved for many years. He spurned her. Then she told her plot to have Giles executed so the Vernon estate would devolve upon Overton, whom she had planned to marry. Her affairs being disarranged, she announced that she would probably marry Sir Thomas Vernon himself. Pardon from the king was secured with 24 hours' leeway in which to save Giles. After great difficulties were overcome, Sir Peter and Richard reached the prison at the moment Giles was to be executed.

Already there were great crowds in the street, and as I made my way madly toward the jail, I was often impeded. I shrieked, I screamed at the people, and waved aloft my precious paper, shouting: "Pardon! Pardon!" The cry was taken up, and swelled in a great roar that came from a thousand friendly throats. As I galloped along on the tinker's horse, through the crowded streets, an awful unspeakable Thing loomed up before me. It was the gibbet, and it was empty!

I felt the hot tears run down my cheeks at this and some recollection of the God that Overton had preached to me caused me to utter an inarticulate thanksgiving! But if my tongue faltered, my heart did not.

At last I pushed my way through shouting crowds to the jail. The people parted, and I saw a black cart drawn by a white horse, and Giles Vernon, with pinioned hands, sitting in it, by the side of the hangman. I noticed —as I did all the trifles of that dreadful time—that the jailer was ashy pale and Giles was fresh-colored. I flung myself off my horse, rushed toward the cart, holding the paper above my head. Oh, the roaring and the shouting! I thrust it in Giles' face; the hangman, in a second, cut the thongs that bound the prisoner's hands. Giles took the pardon and kissed it, and then threw his arms around me and kissed me, and smiled and waved his hat in the air, while voices thundered, men shouting like demons, and women screaming and weeping. And the next thing I knew Daphne appeared, as if dropped down from heaven, and, springing into the cart, clasped Giles; and Lady Hawkshaw, a little slower, but yet quick, descended from the coach, in which she and Daphne had come, and embraced all of us; and then the cheering seemed to rend the skies.

In a little while, the mood of the crowd changed. They began to clamor for the blood of Sir Thomas Vernon. He was known to be away from home, but, as if by a preconcerted movement, a dash was made for Vernon court, which was but five miles away. The military were called out, and the crowd stopped; but not without a collision, and several persons were badly injured, which did not tend toward better feeling for Sir Thomas.

For ourselves, I remained with Giles until he was duly released by the officers of the law, while Daphne and Lady Hawkshaw set off to meet Sir Peter on the road. They met him, five miles off, and brought him back to York in their coach. I shall never forget the scene when they drove up to the inn where Giles and I were already, the crowd, however, not allowing him to remain indoors at all. When the coach hove to, the people, in their delight, picked Sir Peter up and carried him bodily upstairs to an open balcony and demanded a speech, followed by "Parliament! Parliament! Our next member!" and so on. Sir Peter made a speech—the most wonderful I ever heard—standing with one hand on Giles' shoulder, and the other on mine, with Lady Hawkshaw and Daphne in the background.

He began by roundly damning Sir Thomas Vernon, "and a lady who shall be nameless." Nevertheless, in spite of some vagaries, the speech was full of sound sense, and he promised the people, if they gave him their suffrages for parliament he would do all in his power for the abolition of the barbarous law from which Giles Vernon had suffered so cruelly. He averred that it was impossible for a seaman, alone and unaided, to take care of himself on dry land, Jack ashore being a helpless creature at best, and but for Lady Hawkshaw he would probably have been hanged himself long ago. This allusion to Lady Hawkshaw, who fairly divided the honors with Giles, brought forth yells of delight from the crowd. Her ladyship appeared and bowed magnificently, and it was a regular triumph for us all, from beginning to end.

Next day, with Giles, we all started for London, the happiest coach load of people in the three kingdoms.

Two days after our arrival, we read the announcement of the marriage, at St. George's, Hanover Square, of Sir Thomas Vernon to Lady Arabella Stormont.

Sir Peter was delighted at this match, and so was Lady Hawkshaw, and for once they were agreed. The position of the newly-married couple in London was anything but a pleasant one; for Giles became the object of public sympathy, and of popular and royal approval. The prince of Wales sent for him, and our visit to Windsor, whither we all went to thank the king, was made a triumph for us. Sir Thomas and Lady Vernon were forbidden the court and Carlton house, and were frequently hissed in public. I saw them myself at Drury Lane, when they were hissed. Sir Thomas merely grinned, while Lady Arabella surveyed the scowling faces before her with a slow sweet smile, and calmly played with the diamonds in her stomacher.

We had a whole year of happiness. The dreadful experience Giles had been through began to tell on him, and he was permitted to remain quietly a year on shore. And I, because of Giles, was given a year with my bride before I had to leave her. And what a year of blessedness it was to all! We all lived with Sir Peter and Lady Hawkshaw in Berkeley Square, and those two honest souls took delight in us. Lady Hawkshaw became a heroine, and the worthy woman enjoyed it thoroughly. Overton came sometimes to see us. A persecution had been set on foot against him; and he was several times arrested and sentenced for unlawful assemblage. But persecution was not the way to prevail with Overton.

It was very well understood who instigated these continued persecutions, and that did not help to increase the popularity of Sir Thomas and his beautiful wife. At last, a year to the month after the trial at York, the last indignity was offered to Overton. He was sentenced to be whipped at the cart's-tail, and set in the pillory.

There was a general rally of his friends; and on the winter morning when this barbarous sentence was to be carried out, a number, including many persons of note, were assembled at the prison, when Sir Peter and I joined them.

We soon heard that the government would not permit the first part of the sentence to be carried out; but when Overton emerged from the prison he was unaware of this, and prepared for the worst. The holy calmness of his countenance and air brought even Sir Peter to admit that "the pious dog is a man, after all." When informed that he would not be whipped Overton only remarked:

"My Master was scourged. Why should I rebel?"

Arrived at the place of punishment, we found a great crowd assembled, of all sorts of persons, among them some of the highest quality. Overton saluted them, and with the utmost dignity submitted to the cruel and hateful punishment. He had, however, the undisguised sympathy of the officers of the law, as well as of the crowd, and was treated with the utmost tenderness.

He was to spend three hours pilloried, and it was made the greatest triumph of his life.

It is possible for a good man undergoing unjust punishment to be dignified, even in the pillory; and so it was with Overton. His singular beauty, the mildness of his countenance, the uncomplaining fortitude with which he submitted to an odious and miserable position, the remembrance of his past military services, showed him to be every inch a man. Many of his friends came in their coaches, and, descending and going up to Overton, saluted him respectfully and expressed their sympathy, to which Overton gently returned thanks. At last a very splendid coach appeared. It was magnificently horsed with four thoroughbreds, and had outriders, besides two huge footmen with nosegays. It drew up in front of the pillory, and within it sat Lady Vernon, superbly dressed; and in her arms she held a very young infant in a great robe of lace and satin. Two nurses sat on the front seat; and Sir Thomas' saturnine countenance glared behind Lady Vernon's beautiful, triumphant face. The coach stopped; and Lady Vernon, holding the child up in her arms, directly in front of Overton's eyes, gave him a smile and a meaning look, as much as to say:

"Poor wretch! your inheritance is gone!"

The crowd, which was never in a good humor with the Vernons, began to hiss vigorously. This they appeared not to mind; but when hisses were followed by a shower of stones and sticks, the equipage rolled off at the top of its speed.

At 12 o'clock Overton was released, and at once he was exhorting the people to fear God and live truly to him. He was not interrupted by the constables who were present, and was listened to with solemn attention. He has preached ever since, and has never again been molested. And when a dear little girl came to my Daphne—I was then at sea, fighting the French—Overton was at the christening, and made a prayer over her infant head, which my Daphne believes will keep that dear child good and holy all her life.

Giles Vernon, now Capt. Vernon, in command of his majesty's ship Acasta, 44, is counted the smartest of the young captains in the British service. The women still love him; but Giles has grown a little shy of going too far with them, and swears he will die a bachelor. However, there appears to be an affair forward between my little Daphne, who is now four years and six months old, and Capt. Vernon, and I think something will come of it when she is of a marriageable age—and so thinks her mother, too.

(THE END.)

NURSES FOR PAMPERED DOGS.

New Occupation for Girls in London, and It Pays Well.

With the increasing craze for dogs of rare and valuable breeds as pets in England a new employment for girls has been created. They can become dog nurses.

It is no uncommon thing to see in the squares and parks a pretty girl in a neat uniform with two or three valuable little dogs on leash, giving them their daily airing. She is a dog nurse, and this is only one of her duties.

Besides the exercising of the pets the nurse must see to their food, which is no small matter. Special things are cooked and the dogs must be carefully watched while they eat to see that nothing goes wrong. Then the bath is a serious affair. Sometimes a silver bathtub is used and scented water.

The nurse must also look after the toilet of her charges. When they go out with their mistress she must see that they are in proper trim, with their little coats carefully brushed and cleansed and their jeweled collars bright and sparkling.

After they have retired at night her time is her own, and for the most part she considers her five dollars a week very easily earned, for she has her board and lodging provided as well as her uniform.

One of the great requisities for the new profession is that the applicant shall have an extinct sense of humor.

The Ancient Pear.

You find charred pears in the kitchen heaps of middle Europe, where the lake villages used to be, says a writer in Outing. These remnants date back of the apple, and, so far as we can discover, the pear was the very first one of this wonderful family to become of importance to human beings. In fact, it seems probable that an eatable pear, or possibly a cookable pear, was in possession of our ancestors a good while before there were eatable apples or even cherries, plums and possibly even strawberries. But the whole pear family was just as surely working up toward civilized and garden conditions as human beings themselves. Evolution has brought us along together, with pretty nearly equal step, and now it looks as if our future development was to be nearly as close as our past.

Pine Cakes.

The modern farmer touched various attractive cakes on the shelf.

"This is an oak cake," he said. "That is a pine one. The row above are walnut. All these cakes are actually made of wood. They are a new cattle food—the invention of Prof. Heinrich Reh—that I have imported from Berlin.

"Reh points out that the animals like young shoots, roots of shrubs, bark—hence his saw-dust food, enriched with a mixture of potato peelings, cornhusk and the residue of the sugar beet after the extraction of the sugar.

"It is said that this food, the cheapest known, agrees with cattle. And why shouldn't it? It is rich in albumen, nitrogen and fats—much richer than straw. I propose to give it a fair trial. If it does all that is claimed for it, the price of milk ought to come down 50 per cent."

Pennsylvania Happenings

Norristown.—A rabies quarantine has been issued by the state live stock sanitary board for Norristown and a part of Plymouth township, Montgomery county. All dogs must be kept muzzled or tied for 100 days. The dog which is the cause of the quarantine bit two children, clawed another, bit a couple of dozen dogs and one cat and also attacked a cow.

Harrisburg.—The chief clerk in the state department walked into the office of Superintendent of Public Printing Pomeroy with something in his hand that looked like the sail of a catboat. But it was only a sample of the ballots which will confront the voters in November. With only the state ticket and the constitutional amendments, the ballot measures 26 by 22 inches. Samples are to be printed to be sent to county commissioners.

Wilkesbarre.—Mrs. Jane Ashton Jones of this city, who has been married four times and wants to marry again, was refused the divorce she desired and which would have permitted her to take a fifth mate. She is 58 years old and her husband is 66. Judge Fuller in rendering a decision says that while the law, perhaps, should grant a divorce to young and innocent couples who find they cannot live together owing to some serious reason, and thus retrieve a mistake otherwise ruinous to life, it should avoid the result of making divorce easy for persons of mature discretion, hardened and enlightened by years of matrimonial experience.

Harrisburg.—Assistant Deputy Attorney General Hargest, in an opinion to Insurance Commissioner Martin advised againts the issuance of a certificate to the Pennsylvania Insurance Company of Pittsburg because it does not have a paid-up capital of $100,000 as required by the act of 1876, regulating joint stock companies. The company was chartered in 1852, but went out of business in 1891. It is now attempting to revive itself under its old charter with only $12,000 paid-up capital. The opinion says it is "the policy of the state not to permit an insurance company to engage in business on so meager a capital."

Pittsburg.—Discovery has been made, it is alleged, of a deficit of $82,000 by a board of auditors appointed to fix the financial status of the Western Pennsylvania penitentiary. The investigation was started following a recent change of administration and was conducted by bankers now serving time in the institution. The $82,000 is accounted for in the bookkeeping. Brooms and broom material to that amount is stored away. This extraordinary purchase has submerged the finances of the big prison. The hosiery department, it is said, has been running at a loss of $1,800 a year, while rugs and carpets have been sold for less than was paid for the manufacturing material. For some time to come or until the next state appropriation the expenses of the penitentiary will be met with borrowed mnoey.

Pittsburg.—Railroads are beginning to order equipment, power and steel rails in volume which has been unknown for several years. According to officials of large corporations engaged in the manufacture of equipment, between $150,000,000 and $175,000,000 represents the total amount of orders placed for rolling stock by steam and electric railroads, dispatch companies and others since January 1 last. This is a large increase over last year, but the equipment companies are not yet back to normal. These figures throw some light on the recovery in this industry, which had previously suffered to a very large extent from lack of orders growing out of the late panic. Nearly all the equipment companies are now doing a comfortable business and the outlook for a continuation of the improvement that set in several months ago is said to be very bright. The New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Harriman lines, the Hill roads, the Gould lines, United States Steel corporation have been the principal buyers of locomotive and car equipment. Altogether, purchases of more than 25,000 cars have been made of late by the country's railroads, and more are contemplated. The roads have recently been unable to keep pace with traffic conditions. For two years they had worked along without making any more purchases of cars, engines and supplies in general than they were absolutely obliged to. Now they are going ahead and some are taking the other extreme.

Harrisburg.—The state police who have been at Harrisburg for the past six weeks have been ordered back to their barracks at Punxsutawney, the trouble among the strikers at that place having been practically settled.

Meadville.—State Fish Commissioner W. E. Meehan superintended the drawing of a 300-foot seine in Conneaut lake for gars and carp. The result was one small muscallonge. The seine was drawn in Huidekoper basin, but it was too short and a longer one will be brought for another haul.

If you are a business man, did you ever think of the field of opportunity that advertising opens to you? There is almost no limit to the possibilities of your business if you study how to turn trade into your store. If you are not getting your share of the business of your community there's a reason. People go where they are attracted — where they know what they can get and how much it is sold for. If you make direct statements in your advertising see to it that you are able to fulfill every promise you make. You will add to your business reputation and hold your customers. It will not cost as much to run your ad in this paper as you think. It is the persistent advertiser who gets there. Have something in the paper every issue, no matter how small. We will be pleased to quote you our advertising rates, particularly on the year's business.

MAKE YOUR APPEAL

to the public through the columns of this paper. With every issue it carries its message into the homes and lives of the people. Your competitor has his store news in this issue. Why don't you have yours? Don't blame the people for flocking to his store. They know what he has.

The Home Paper Gives you the reading matter in which you have the greatest interest—the home news. Its every issue will prove a welcome visitor to every member of the family. It should head your list of newspaper and periodical subscriptions.

Enlarging Your Business

If you are in business and you want to make more money you will read every word we have to say. Are you spending your money for advertising in haphazard fashion as if intended for charity, or do you advertise for direct results?

Did you ever stop to think how your advertising can be made a source of profit to you, and how its value can be measured in dollars and cents. If you have not, you are throwing money away.

Advertising is a modern business necessity, but must be conducted on business principles. If you are not satisfied with your advertising you should set aside a certain amount of money to be spent annually, and then carefully note the effect it has in increasing your volume of business; whether a 10, 20 or 50 per cent increase. If you watch this gain from year to you will become intensely interested in your advertising, and how you can make it enlarge your business.

If you try this method we believe you will not want to let a single issue of this paper go to press without something from your store.

We will be pleased to have you call on us, and we will take pleasure in explaining our annual contract for so many inches, and how it can be used in whatever amount that seems necessary to you.

If you can sell goods over the counter we can also show you why this paper will best serve your interests when you want to reach the people of this community.

JOB PRINTING We can do the finest class of printing, and we can do that class just a little cheaper than the other fellow. Wedding invitations, letter heads, bill heads, sale bills, statements, dodgers, cards, etc., all receive the same careful treatment —just a little better than seems necessary. Prompt delivery always.

GROWING POTATOES UNDER STRAW MULCH BENEFICIAL

It Will Bring About Good Results On Hilly Land Where the Moisture Often Does Much Damage.—By T. M. Cisel.

For growing potatoes on hill land or where they are often damaged by moisture the straw mulch will be found to bring good results. For straw covering the potatoes should be planted the last of May or the first of June. We have the soil well prepared. Mark off the rows two feet apart and not too deep. Straw potatoes require only about half the row space that cultivated ones need, as the vines are never so large and cultivation is not required. Cover the seed with two inches of soil and then with about ten inches of straw, or enough to make four inches when well beaten down by rain. This will keep the weeds down and hold the moisture throughout the summer. Potatoes grown in this way are always free from scab, clean and of finer quality. Clover chaff makes a good covering, but should not be put on so heavily as it forms a more compact covering, and with too much rain will cause the potatoes to rot.

Potatoes Growing Under Straw Mulch.

There is nothing in the current superstition about planting potatoes in the dark of the moon and similar pieces of farm lore which have been accepted as gospel truth from time immemorial. This is the dictum of the department of agriculture, which made a serious study of the moon superstition and laid the Luna wraith at least to its own satisfaction.

There is usually a basis in fact for any superstition, and the moon superstition was so deep-rooted that a number of the experts of the department while going up and down in the land made it their business to study the question and see whether there might not be a germ of truth, or, at least, some reason for the general belief that the moon's phases have an effect on animal and vegetable life. They have concluded after patient investigation that the moon myth is one of the comparatively few myths that dates back to pure savagery and has absolutely not a scientific leg to stand on.

Almost every one, even if he has not reared in the country, has heard of the idea about planting potatoes in the dark of the moon. The field workers of the department of agriculture have found that at least 75 per cent. of the farmers of this enlightened country put in their crops and do a good many other things about the farm governed absolutely by the moon's phases. Almost any farmer will tell you that if you plant potatoes in the dark of the moon they will run to tubers, and if in the light of the moon, they will run to tops. This is said to be true of any root crop, and it is planted accordingly.

There is only one difficulty about this theory and that is that it is not so. The agricultural experiment stations all over the country have been defying the superstition for years and raising just as good crops when the moon was one way as when it was the other.

GOVERNMENT IN WILLOW BUSINESS

Free Distribution of Best Varieties Made from Nurseries Located Near Washington

The government is right in the midst of the harvest of a most unique crop at its experimental farm near Arlington, just across the Potomac from Washington, where a corps of laborers in charge of trained foresters are preparing for the annual free distribution of 100,000 basket willow cuttings.

Uncle Sam is encouraging the growing of high-grade willow rods in this country, and in the five years since the establishment of the holts at Arlington approximately a half million select cuttings have been distributed among farmers, with directions for planting and preparing for market.

Particular attention is given to selecting the varieties and strains best suited to the soil where the plantings will be made.

Willow craft is an industry which is constantly growing in importance in this country, yet the culture of basket willow in the United States made very little progress until five or six years ago.

Even now, practically all of the best grades of basket willow are imported from Europe, chiefly from France. Experiments have shown that the best grades of willow can be grown in this country at a good profit.

This year's harvest began early in March. Four approved varieties are being sent out, and only the best and most thrifty rods are selected for distribution. Cuttings for experiments, planting and information on management of the willow holts are furnished those who make the request of the forester at Washington.

The government recognizes the importance of good cuttings, a point more commonly overlooked than the matter of cultivation. Only the best and most thrifty rods are selected for each season's distribution.

The forest service is receiving a constantly increasing number of requests for basket willow cuttings. These requests came from farmers all over the country, many of them coming through members of congress.

Lice Infection.

It is a mark of poor farm management to allow any animals to become infected with lice. Hogs can not thrive when their vitality is sucked away by these insects. There are several good dips on the market, and kerosene and grease, mixed warm, are a good common remedy.

REMEDIES FOR SCABBY POTATOES

Two Poisons Are Recommended to Prevent Disease, Formalin Being Less Dangerous.

Potato scab is a disease of the potato tuber caused by a fungous growth attacking it in the soil. Spores of the fungus will remain in the soil from year to year and on the tubers from one season to another. The disease causes the surface of the potato to become rough and unsightly and very often extends deep into the flesh, injuring its food value.

Scab on potatoes can be prevented by planting uninfected tubers in clean soil, and the danger of infecting may be reduced by rotation or by planting the potatoes in different soil each season.

To insure a crop of potatoes free from scab treat the seed with some poison to kill the scab spores on them and plant in soil in which no potatoes have grown for several years. Two poisons for scab treatment are recommended. Formalin is the less poisonous and the one most commonly used. It costs about 50 cents a pint and one pint is used with 30 gallons of water. Formalin solution may be used either in a wooden or metallic vessel, and, although a poison, there is little danger in its use. Let the potatoes soak in the solution for about two hours. After disinfection place the potatoes in bags which contain no scab spores.

Spores of potato scab may also be killed by the use of corrosive sublimate. This is a very poisonous substance and must be used with care. Do not use for food any of the potatoes after treatment. To use corrosive sublimate provide a barrel or other wooden vessel, as it attacks metals. Dissolve two ounces of the poison in two gallons of hot water. When it was has dissolved mix it with 14 gallons of water and sprinkle or pour it over the potatoes, so that all of the tubers become moist with the solution. What is left over of the poison must be carefully disposed of.

Exercise for the Horse.

It is a mistake to keep either young or old horses stabled several days at a time. They need daily outdoor exercise for development of muscles and bones. If the pasture is too short for them to run in, allow them daily exercise in an open lot.

Brood Coops Face South.

See that your brood coops face the south at this time of year so as to give the chicks as much of the sun's rays as possible, but reverse this method as the season advances and the heated months approach.

For the Hostess

Chat on Topics of Many Kinds, by a Recognized Authority

A week from to-morrow is Labor day with a capital "L," said a bright young teacher, as she thought of returning to the schoolroom. "Learn to labor and to wait," may have done in the time when it was written, but "Learn to Labor, not to wait," is more applicable to this day and generation, for he who waits is hopelessly lost in the shuffle.

But for the party of which I want to tell it struck me as a very good thing. The hostess is a young matron, who is long in the knowledge of the so-called fine arts, but she is wofully lacking in the knowledge of what I call the "finer art"—viz., domestic science. Having been recently married and being desirous of doing for "Jack" just as "mother used to," only with modern approved methods, she has asked six older housekeepers to come to luncheon on Labor day, and the invitations stipulate that each one must be prepared to tell and, perhaps, illustrate, some practical way of performing some household duty. The hostess is going to provide cunning little notebooks and pencils in which will be written these discoveries. The table favors are all to be symbols of labor in miniature—tiny brooms, dustpans, tubs, etc.—and the favors are to be the cutest of sweeping caps and the most approved models of aprons, under which "little wife" may safely wear a much-befrilled frock with perfect safety. The menu is to be made up from the recipe book prepared by "special friends," so the hostess confided to me she felt sure of results and would not have to try them on "Jack" first. (I wonder if he realizes his fortunate escape?)

I hinted broadly to be bidden to the feast, but the hostess with charming candor replied: "No, Mme. Curtsey, this is to be really and truly a plain affair, without any furbelows, and cannot be classed in your 'Novel Entertainment.' It's too serious." Nevertheless, I am hoping the readers will appreciate the novelty of the idea, for I think it is going to be a mighty good luncheon.

For Pre-Nuptial Luncheons.

The slipper, bell, rose, heart, true lovers' knot and circle (ring) are all appropriate symbols for place cards at a bride-elect's luncheon or dinner party. They may be easily made at home. First cut the design out of paper until it is satisfactory, then use as a pattern on heavy dull paper or cardboard that comes for just such purposes.

A very slight knowledge of water colors will serve to decorate them with orange blossoms, forget-me-nots, heads of pretty girls with coronets of tiny roses and the bride with a filmy veil.

Entire figure place cards are effective with a standard to hold them upright at each plate. At one dinner for a bridal party the place cards were little photographs of the bride and groom in frames of gilt with mats made from the bridal gown.

A coterie of college girls had these unique souvenirs, which also served as place cards. Books were made of white satin, with the words "Our Wedding Cards" done in gold. They were to preserve the wedding cards of the girls as they came out, and there were spaces for newspaper clippings descriptive of the event; also places for a few written notes.

I think photographs of the bride and groom should be added to make this record complete. The name of each girl was done in gold on the outside cover, and thus it made the place card.

A Tree Shower.

A hostess with a large lawn devised this original and pretty shower for a summer bride-elect. She had the lawn gayly decorated with lanterns and rugs spread in cozy spots surrounded by shrubbery with camp chairs and little tables where tea was served.

The guests were asked to bring articles for a "miscellaneous" shower. After they arrived there was a short musical program of love songs. The packages were tied to a beautiful evergreen, a real little Christmas tree. It certainly was a loaded tree, for the hostess had added a lot of tin things like cooky cutters, graters, etc., that sparkled in a most bewitching manner.

Each parcel was accompanied by a rhyme or sentiment, which was read aloud. The bride-elect was handed a pair of scissors and clipped the ribbons, opening each parcel as she took it down. This with serving of refreshments furnished entertainment for time specified on the invitations, from "three to five." Every one was delighted with the novelty and pronounced the affair a charming success.

MADAME MERRI.

At the Five O'clock Tea.

A popular combination much served instead of iced tea at five o'clock is grape juice and ginger ale mixed. Use about a third of the latter. If white grape juice instead of purple is chosen the drink is better yet. Serve with glasses half filled with cracked ice.

Five Suggestions

The first illustration shows a simple style well suited to Jap silk. Three tucks are made at each side of back and front; the outer one is taken to waist, the others join yoke and are stitched a few inches down; the plastron and yoke, which are cut in one, are of piece lace, with trimmings of cords and buttons. The sleeves are three-quarter length, and are tucked to match.

Materials required: 2¼ yards silk 36 inches wide, ¾ yard lace, 1 dozen buttons, 1 yard cord.

The second is an exceedingly pretty idea, and is carried out in pale green spotted ninon and piece lace. The ninon is finely tucked for the yoke, and is gauged on the outside of sleeve. Green silk to match is used to bind the edges of the over-bodice, which is entirely of piece-lace.

Materials required: 2½ yards ninon 30 inches wide, ½ yard green silk, 2½ yards lace 18 inches wide.

The next design is also quite pretty, and is made up in mauve mercerized lawn. Three tucks are made on each shoulder, and two each side of center front and back. The yoke, which is of fine muslin embroidery, continues to waist in front, and a little way down at back; straps of embroidery edged with material are taken over the shoulders, and mauve silk ornments are sewn in the rounded ends. The sleeves are trimmed by groups of tucks and set to a band of embroidery just below elbow.

Materials required: 2 yards lawn 36 inches wide, 4 ornaments, 1½ yard muslin embroidery 18 inches wide.

In piece lace or cambric embroidery, the bolero would be both smart and useful; the edges are bound with the same material as dress is made of.

Materials required: 2 yards lace 18 inches wide.

The last is a simple pinafore bodice that is made up in nymph green linen to match the skirt; embroidered galloon forms the trimming round opening at neck and arm-holes; the tab of embroidery which comes in center of front is trimmed with three silk tassels.

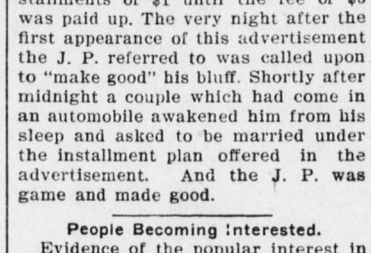
Materials required: 1 yard linen 36 inches wide, 2½ yards embroidery, 3 tassels.

PAINT BEAUTY.

Assured of durability, the next thought in painting is beauty—the complete aim being durable beauty, or beautiful durability.

National Lead Company here again offer you the co-operation of their paint experts—this time in the line of color schemes, artistic, harmonious and appropriate. You have only to write National Lead Company, 1902 Trinity Building, New York City, for "Houseowners' Painting Outfit No. 49," and you will promptly receive what is really a complete guide to painting, including a book of color schemes for either exterior or interior painting (as you may request), a book of specifications, and also an instrument for detecting adulteration in paint materials. This outfit is sent free, and, to say the least, is well worth writing for.

WIFELY SOLICITUDE.



Burglar—Hands up!

Wife—Oh, John, be careful of those globes; you'll break them!

PROVED BY TIME.

No Fear of Any Further Trouble.

David Price, Corydon, Ia., says: "I was in the last stage of kidney trouble

—lame, weak, run down to a mere skeleton. My back was so bad I could hardly walk and the kidney secretions much disordered. A week after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I could walk without a cane, and as I continued my health gradually returned. I was so grateful I made a public statement of my case, and now seven years have passed, I am still perfectly well."

Wedding Fee in Installments.

Some of the 'squires in rustic New Jersey seem to be pretty hard pushed for cash. To get the cash they do not hesitate to use most unusual methods. One of these J. P.'s advertised the other day that he was ready and willing to marry couples at any time, day or night, for a consideration of $5 and that he was willing to accept $1 in cash down and the rest in weekly installments of $1 until the fee of $5 was paid up. The very night after the first appearance of this advertisement the J. P. referred to was called upon to "make good" his bluff. Shortly after midnight a couple which had come in an automobile awakened him from his sleep and asked to be married under the installment plan offered in the advertisement. And the J. P. was game and made good.

People Becoming Interested.

Evidence of the popular interest in the anti-consumption crusade is given in a statement made by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, to the effect that during the year ending August 31, nearly 3,000,000 people have attended tuberculosis exhibitions in various parts of the country. Besides the three traveling tuberculosis exhibitions of the national association, there are 28 exhibits of this kind throughout the United States. Four years ago there were only three such displays in the entire country.

Mother-in-Law Again.

Husband—Why do you hate to see me come home smiling?

Wife—Because I know it means something has happened to poor mother.—Illustrated Bits.

THREE REASONS

Each with Two Legs and Ten Fingers.

A Boston woman who is a fond mother writes an amusing article about her experience feeding her boys.

Among other things she says: "Three chubby, rosy-cheeked boys, Rob, Jack and Dick, aged 6, 4 and 2 years respectively, are three of our reasons for using and recomending the food, Grape-Nuts, for these youngsters have been fed on Grape-Nuts since infancy, and often between meals when other children would have been given candy.

"I gave a package of Grape-Nuts to a neighbor whose 3 year old child was a weazened little thing, ill half the time. The little tot ate the Grape-Nuts and cream greedily and the mother continued the good work, and it was not long before a truly wonderful change manifested itself in the child's face and body. The results were remarkable, even for Grape-Nuts.

"Both husband and I use Grape-Nuts every day and keep strong and well and have three of the finest, healthiest boys you can find in a day's march."

Many mothers instead of destroying the children's stomachs with candy and cake give the youngsters a handful of Grape-Nuts when they are begging for something in the way of sweets. The result is soon shown in greatly increased health, strength and mental activity.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — Mrs. Chas. Barclay, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

A Night Hawk Baby.

"Don't you ever put the baby to bed?" an astonished visitor at last exclaimed after the better part of the evening had worn away and the child of six months was still sitting up, gooing cheerfully. The young mother laughed. "Oh, yes," she explained with serene wisdom. "We put baby to bed at 12 p. m., and he sleeps until 12 m. Then he has his bath and goes out in the gocart and sleeps most of the afternoon. Haven't you known many mothers who simply sacrifice all their time to the babies while they are little? I made up my mind before baby came that he would have to conform to our ways, not we conform to his. He has just as much sleep as babies who go to bed at 6 and sleep until 6, and he doesn't interfere with our evenings. We can take him with us when we go out or we can go feeling that he will be perfectly happy while we are away, because he won't cry for mother until midnight. We're regular night hawks, and so is baby."

The visitor was speechless.

"Don't you think it's a good system?" the mother continued. "We think it is splendid."

"I think," the visitor answered in noncommittal tone, "that it would take a New York mother to invent the system."—New York Press.

No Wonder She Swooned.

Mrs. Lysander John Appleton's mother instinct divined last evening that her son, Chauncey Devere Appleton, was in trouble, so she took him to her room and said, "My son, tell your mother what troubles you."

It turned out that the young man was having a hard time. The girl he has been "going with" had refused him. Mrs. Appleton was indignant. She thinks it would be an honor for any girl in the west to marry an Appleton. "Why did she refuse you?" she asked her son, with fine scorn.

"Well," the boy replied between his sobs, "she objects to our family. She says pa's a loafer, that you're too fat and that everybody laughs at Dayse Mayme because she's a fool and talks about nothing but the greatness of her family." Chauncey threw water in his mother's face, but at 3 o'clock this afternoon she was still in a swoon, with four doctors working on her.—Atchison Globe.

Applied Christianity.

Mother had baked several varieties of cakes, among them being some small, decorated ones for the children. All had received their share and were busy disposing of them upon the back veranda—that is, all except Isabel, who for some misdemeanor had been refused a share of the feast. Now, Isabel was four years old and had been attending a Sunday school for several weeks past, and in the school she learned a number of texts. She stood by the window watching the others make merry until her longing was too much for childish patience. So she walked over to the table, reached out her hand and solemnly repeated, "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want." Then a little fist closed firmly upon the largest, finest cake.—Woman's Home Companion.

Funeral Stories.

The great French artist Ingres when in Rome had a violent cold, and Mottez asked him how he managed to catch it. Ingres replied that it was through attending the funeral of M. X.

"What—X., the art critic?" said Mottez. "I thought you hated him."

"That is why I went to see him buried," said Ingres.

Several years ago, at the funeral of a well known fire insurance official in Liverpool, much detested by his staff, it was remarked that an unexpectedly large number of them attended.

On one of them being asked for an explanation he said: "We wouldn't have missed it on any account. We want to be sure that he is buried."

The great artist, like the obscure clerk, has his littlenesses.

All For the Men.

A parson was sent for by a dying parishioner, who had always sternly refused to have anything to do with him before. He hurried to her bedside, found her in a most contrite mood and made the best of his opportunities in a long extempore prayer, ending with a sonorous "Amen!"

The last word made her sit up with sudden energy. "Aye," she exclaimed, "that's it! It's a' for men and nowt for us poor women in this world!"

Wind Wheelbarrows.

One of the strangest sights in China is the wind wheelbarrow. It is drawn by a donkey, and when the wind is fair a sail is set. The wheel turns in the middle of a wooden frame, sustained by iron bars. Upon the frame are hung all kinds of utensils. The donkey is generally mounted by the paterfamilias, the son and heir is at the stern assisting all he can, while the mother and younger ones ride on the vehicle.

The Truth Forced Home.

"I'm afraid," she sighed, "that I'm getting old."

"Why?" he asked.

"When I go to the grocery now the clerks don't nearly break their necks trying to beat one another in getting my orders."—Exchange.

Too Eminent.

"Why don't you ask your office boy to wash those windows?"

Pimples, Blackheads, Eczema, Etc.

QUICKLY CURED.

"It is astonishing" remarked a well known authority on diseases of the skin, how such a large number of people, especially ladies are by attractively written advertisements, induced to purchase some one of the many beauty Creams now on the market, not knowing of course, that they mostly contain oily or greesy substances that clog the pores of the skin and are, for that reason, the very worst thing that they could possibly use. My treatment of Pimples, Blackheads, Blotches and all eruptions of the skin, are as follows, and has invariably proved very successful: Wash the face carefully every night before retiring with warm water and a little oat meal tied up in a small cloth bag, then, after drying well, use the following inexpensive and perfectly harmless prescription, which can be filled at at any drug store: Clearola ½ oz., Ether 1 oz., Alcohol 7 ounces. Use this mixture on the face as often as possible during the day, but use night and morning anyway, allowing it to remain on the face at least ten minutes then the powdery film may be wiped off. Do not wash the face for some little time after using. By following this simple treatment, you will soon have a clear brilliant complexion.

Are You This Man?

We are looking for just ONE big, broad-gagued man of business ability in this county to act as our special representative, to look after our present customers and to add new ones.

To the right man we have a mighty good proposition to make—pleasant employment at profitable wages which will be paid every week. But we must have a real worker, a man who knows how to work and who likes to work because in so doing he is benefitting himself. If you are this kind of a man, write us at once for complete details which will open the way to a bigger business success for you.
